

Photograph	Description	Who did it belong to?
	Palstave axe head	Male
	Fragment of whetstone, or stone axe, later reused as a sharpening stone	Male
	Flint dagger found with BA Beaker burials	Male although occasionally found with female burials.
	Barbed and tanged arrowhead found on the surface at Humby Hill	Male
	Grey flint knife with reworking on the edges	Male
	Grey flint arrowhead	Male

	Undecorated prehistoric pottery	Female and male
	Light brown flint arrowhead	Male
	Undecorated prehistoric pottery	Female or male
	Food vessel with chevron design	Female or male
	Bronze Age metal work, hoard including chisels, axeheads, sword fragments etc.	Male

	Beaded necklace	Female
	Pottery	Female or male
	Gold and shale bead	Female